
Louis Weinstein, MD

Dr. Louis Weinstein is an obstetrician-gynecologist, specializing in maternal-fetal medicine, who has been practicing for nearly 40 years, and is currently serving the Barrier Island Free Medical Clinic off the coast of South Carolina.

Dr. Weinstein received his undergraduate degree from Bates College in 1968 before going on to earn his medical degree from Wake Forest University School of Medicine in 1972.

Dr. Weinstein is the former Bowers professor and chair of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the Thomas Jefferson University in Philadelphia. He is the author or co-author of over 160 scientific publications. For his outstanding clinical and academic work throughout his career, Dr. Weinstein has been the recipient of 18 distinguished commendations and awards, and 25 research grants.

Dr. Weinstein has served as a member of numerous national advisory councils, boards, and committees, including his current role as Chair of the Senior Physicians Section Governing Council for the American Medical Association.